

Stolen Cope Phone Booth triggers interest with 9 news

Greg Grady (Photojournalist for 9 news) Vickie Cecil, Lanny Payne. Photo by Dena Mason

Stolen Cope Phone booth taken from archive photos submitted by Linda Hill.

By Dena Mason
 It all started during the Cope Old Settlers Picnic. Nicholas Bernard from the Front Range had read the article in the Otis Newspaper about the phone booth being stolen from Cope Park and decided to investigate. He came down to enjoy the Old Settlers Picnic and also became curious about the history book that was designed by the Cope Home Makers in the 1980s. After visiting with Jim and Vickie Cecil, he tipped off nine news about the article, and nine news Greg Grady came down on Wednesday, September 15, to interview
 Continued on page 4

OVFD helps with Post Fire in Crawford, NE

Fatality in two vehicle accident in Yuma on Wednesday

See page 8

Washington County